EXPLANATION

The thoughts (found under ballooned photographs of seniors) appearing throughout the 1971 Aurigan were selected from poems and compositions written by seniors during their junior year. Each quotation is related in some way to the subjects and events featured on the spread where it appears; copy and photography have been designed and selected to re-express each thought. An attempt has been made to capture the essence of a year through ideas common to students at Mount Everett.

IT HAS . . . A SPIRIT PERSONALITY — FROM 8:25 TO 5:15 IT'S LIVELY, AND
FROM 5:15 TO 8:25 IT'S SLEEPING AND QUIET. — Susie McNamara

... AND GOING TOO
FAST . . . — John Bailey

THERE GOES THE MINUTE THAT WAS
. . . — Claudia Allsop

It is May 22nd and Jug End Resort is the scene of buzzing pre-prom activity. The resort, chosen as the site of the first Mount Everett prom held outside the school, will soon be transformed (by the hands of prom committee chairman Sue McNamara and dozens of committeemen) into "A Summer Place." As the preparations cease and the day becomes night, the receiving line forms: Junior class advisors (Mr. Eline and Mr. Alvares), faculty and administration members, school board members, and Host and Hostess Stanley Collins and Mary Jane Anderson greet the arriving guests. While the couples are filling their plates from the sumptuous buffet, "Grass, Seeds, and Sun," the first rock band to play at a Mount Everett prom, tunes up. Ballots for prom queen are passed out, marked, and collected. The results become official — Ellen Price, Candy Leining, Donna Camp, Chris Heddleson, Pat Mielke, and Marcia Packlick are ladies-in-waiting to Queen Gail Gilmore. The Queen and her escort, Craig Elliott, dance to the strains of summer music. The moon wanes. All too soon it is May 23rd, and Jug End is again the scene of buzzing activity. The decorations must be taken to Ward's Nursery, along with our gratitude, by eight o'clock.

Usherettes Nancy Pasche, Anne Saunders, Mary Welch, Shelley L'Hommedieu, Lucie Cappadona, Pat DeVoti, Julie MacDonald, Gloria Reeb, and Jane Schoenfeld escort friends and parents of the graduating class to their seats. At promptly eight o'clock the night of June 5th, Mr. Wartella lowers his baton and the Mount Everett band breaks into the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance." Heads turn right and left to see the Class of 1970 march down the center aisle to the stage. The sixty-six graduates seat themselves with practiced certainty, and the exercises commence. The main address is delivered by Dr. Thomas Corwin Mendenhall, President of Smith College. Awards are announced, and the honor speeches are given. Salutatorian Christine Salzmann discusses the class motto, "I do not fear tomorrow for I have seen yesterday and I love today." Valedictorian Lynne O'Connell speaks of freedom and maturity. Diplomas are awarded and the class song "I Believe" is sung. With all tassels tossed finally to the right, the new alumni leave the stage.

FRESHMEN

Under the direction of Mr. Trocchi, Mr. Chamberland, and Mr. Langer, the 1970 Summer School was in session from June 29 to July 31. Incorporated into the Summer School session was a teacher training program, instigated by Superintendent Paul McDonald. Federally funded teacher training offered inexperienced teachers the opportunity to instruct under the supervision of more experienced teachers. Also started this past year was the Mount Everett Science and Conservation Center. In cooperation with the Neighborhood Youth Core, the project completed its first phase this year. As the name implies, the center will be maintained for both ecological and educational purposes.

Courses offered during Summer School and their directors are as follows:

FACULTY AND RECENT CURRICULAR INNOVATIONS

Mr. Eline and Mr. Kelley are co-teaching a two year course which combines the concepts of biology and chemistry for freshmen and sophomores. Spanish, taught by Mr. Peron, has successfully become a part of Mount Everett's curriculum, and Spanish II was offered for the first time this year. Mini-courses (those which may be taken for only one semester) have made it possible for students to join a greater variety of subjects; Behavioral Science, Contemporary American Literature, Economics, English V, and College Preparatory Typing are such courses offered to juniors and seniors. On the junior high level, the Social Studies Department has continued its practice of combining teachers for a single course. Conference group periods provide students with the opportunity for individual help in the areas of social studies, mathematics, language arts, and reading.

Project AIM, initiated this year, is an expansion of the vocational program coordinated by Mr. Shiminski for grades nine through twelve. Freshmen have a business orientation course, and grades ten through twelve are involved in such areas as plant maintenance, business practices, building structures, and shop.

The administration of Mount Everett is an involving job. It involves such men as Mr. McDonald, Superintendent of the Southern Berkshire Regional School District, Mr. Trocchi, Principal of Mount Everett for grades five through twelve, Mr. Helmrich, District Treasurer and Business Manager, Mr. Chamberland, Assistant Principal for grades five through eight, and Mr. Shiminski, Principal of the Occupational Education Program.

A concern of the administration this year was the evaluation of Mount Everett. During October 19, 20, and 21, the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools conducted an evaluation which would place the school into one of three categories: two-year, five-year, or ten-year accreditation. After a thorough examination by the committee in all possible areas of the school, Mount Everett was given a ten-year accreditation.

The administration is also considering a proposal to establish an early-dismissal program. This would move the present activity period to the end of the day and provide extra help for students with failing averages. Non-participating students would be able to leave school at two-thirty rather than three-fifteen as before. If approved, the new time change may go into effect sometime this year.

"This fall cheering was fairly exciting. We picked out and ordered new uniforms, and we had them for the third or fourth games. All of us liked them. The weather we had for cheering was always changing. At the Weston game it was very hot; at the Bethel game it was snowing and very windy. It was so cold we all came down with colds. During a lot of the cross country meets it rained or snowed. We had fun cheering for both cross country and football, especially when we were winning." — Marcia Wuori, Fall Cheerleading Captain

"We've got the pep, we've got the team, we've got to fight, we've got to scream! Those are some of the things that cheerleading is based on. This year nine girls and an alternate were selected. It can be said that we've done just about everything together. We've jumped together, pulled muscles together, yelled together, and got laryngitis together. We tried hard to create different ideas to revive school spirit, some of which seemed to be successful. We spent long hours and it was a lot of hard work, but it was worth the time and effort when we were rewarded with a ride home on a winning-team bus." — Susie McNamara, Winter Cheerleading Captain

Under the direction of Mr. Wartella, the choir practices in preparation for its role in the National Honor Society induction, the Spring Concert, and June commencement exercises. This year there will be a new influx of material, ranging from folk to light classics. Because of the small group, the emphasis will be on individual quality.

ART LAB: Advisor — Mr. Simanek

In Art Lab, art students and interested students have an opportunity to work on various projects, using available material.

AVIATION GROUND SCHOOL: Advisor — Mr. Dunham

The purpose of Aviation Ground School is to give students a knowledge of aviation, meteorology, and navigation.

BOY'S INTRAMURALS: Advisor — Mr. Halliday

Boy's Intramurals gives boys a chance to participate in sports beyond those of the physical education requirements.

CHESS CLUB: Advisor — Mr. Davis

The Chess Club provides students with non-academic challenges. This year, the Chess Club participated in a chess tournament sponsored by The United States Chess Federation.

CROCHET CLUB: Advisor — Mrs. Larkin

Mrs. Larkin teaches the girls in Crochet Club the basic crochet stitches, which they use in working on individual projects.

DRIVER'S EDUCATION: Advisor — Mr. Menin

Each student must pass thirty hours of classtime, six hours of driving, and six hours of observation in order to get a driver's education certificate. Through special filmstrips, lectures, and actual driving experience, Mr. Menin is determined to turn out defensive drivers.

GERMAN CLUB: Advisor — Mrs. Preiss

The aim of the German Club is to give students a general knowledge of conversational German.

GIRL'S INTRAMURALS: Advisor — Miss Beaumont

Girl's Intramurals allows girls in grades 9-12 a chance to use the gym, work in teams, and improve their coordination.

ITALIAN CLUB: Advisor — Mr. Stone

The Italian Club's basic function is to introduce the language and culture of Italy to interested students.

JUDO: Advisor — Mr. Menin

Judo is designed to teach the elements of self-defense to interested students. The program mainly concerns itself with the act of throwing. For the future there are hopes of expanding the program to incorporate modified forms of karate.

NEWSPAPER CLUB: Advisor — Mrs. Rhoades

The Newspaper Club publishes The Mount Everett Review. Members learn the ropes of journalism, and the process of planning layouts prior to publication.

PEP CLUB: Advisor — Mr. Peron

The Pep Club manages the concession stand at football and some basketball games. Profits go toward the hiring of spectator buses. The Pep Club also generates school spirit.

RUSSIAN CLUB: Advisor — Mr. Raskind

The purpose of the Russian Club is to enable students to develop fluency in conversational Russian.

TABLE TENNIS: Advisor — Mr. Gauthier

Though its emphasis is on enjoyment, table tennis also encourages the development of coordination and sportsmanship.

WEIGHTLIFTING: Advisor — Mr. Du-chardt

Weightlifting is designed to build up muscle power.

sight;
A lovely apparition, sent
To be a moment's ornament;
Her eyes as stars of twilight fair;
Like twilight's, too, her dusky hair;
But all things else about her drawn
From Maytime and the cheerful dawn;
A dancing shape, an image gay,
To haunt, to startle, and waylay.

My heart aches, and a drowsy numbness pains
My sense, as though of hemlock I had drunk,
Or emptied some dull opiate to the drains
One minute past, and Lethe-wards had sunk;
'Tis not through envy of thy happy lot,
But being too happy in thine happiness —
That thou, light-winged Dryad of the trees,
In some melodious plot
Of beechen green, and shadows numberless,
Singest of summer in full-throated ease.
O for a draught of vintage! that hath been
Cooled a long age in the deep-delved earth,

SEYTON. The queen, my lord, is dead.
MACBETH. She should have died hereafter;
There would have been a time for such a word.
Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow,
Creeps in this petty pace from day to day
To the last syllable of recorded time,
And all our yesterdays have lighted fools
The way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle!
Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage
And then is heard no more. It is a tale
Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury,
Signifying nothing.

Death Be Not Proud

Death be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so;
For those whom thou think'st thou dost overthrow
Die not, poor Death; nor yet canst thou kill me.
From Rest and Sleep, which but thy picture be,
Much pleasure; then from thee much more must flow;
And soonest our best men with thee do go —
Rest of their bones and souls' delivery!

Thou'rt slave to Fate, chance, kings, and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell;
And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well
And better than thy stroke. Why swell'st thou then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And Death shall be no more; Death, thou shalt die!

Of that forbidden tree whose mortal taste
Brought death into the World, and all our woe.
With loss of Eden, till one greater Man
Restore us, and regain the blissful seat.
Sing, Heavenly Muse, . . . I thence
Invoke thy aid to my adventurous song,
That with no middle flight intends to soar
Above the Aonian mount, while it pursues
Things unattempted yet in prose or rhyme.

Sweet Auburn! loveliest village of the plain,
Where health and plenty cheered the laboring swain,
And parting summer's lingering blooms delayed;
Dear lovely bowers of innocence and ease,
Seats of my youth, when every sport could please,
How often have I loitered o'er thy green,
Where humble happiness endeared each scene!
How often have I paused on every charm,
The sheltered cot, the cultivated farm,
The never-failing brook, the busy mill,
The decent church that topped the neighboring hill,
The hawthorn bush, with scents beneath the shade
For talking age and whispering lovers made!

exists in the medium of time. It is time itself that becomes, like a statue, an existing shape as a symphony is not like a statue, which can be one's own chosen time. With music, we are there has sounded, and it never can be recontemplated. It is always too late for a second look at a sculptor whose element is time instead of a superior sense of proportion and relations' whole phraseology of a work.

About suffering they were never wrong. The Old Masters: how well they understood Its human position; how it takes place While someone else is eating or opening a window or just walking dully along; How, when the aged are reverently, passionately waiting For the miraculous birth, there always must be Children who did not specially want it to happen, skating On a pond at the edge of the wood: They never forgot That even the dreadful martyrdom must run its course Anyhow in a corner, some untidy spot Where the dogs go on with their doggy life and the torturer's horse Scratches its innocent behind on a tree.

In Brueghel's Icarus,² for instance: how everything turns away Quite leisurely from the disaster; the ploughman may Have heard the splash, the forsaken cry. But for him it was not an important failure: the sun shone As it had to on the white legs disappearing into the green Water; and the expensive delicate ship that must have seen Something amazing, a boy falling out of the sky, Had somewhere to get to and sailed calmly on.

 Across the line of straighter darker trees,
 I like to think some boy's been swinging them.
 But swinging doesn't bend them down to stay.
 Ice storms do that. Often you must have seen them
 Loaded with ice a sunny winter morning
 After a rain. They click upon themselves
 As the breeze rises, and turn many-colored
 As the stir cracks and crazes their enamel.
 Soon the sun's warmth makes them shed crystal shells
 Shattering and avalanching on the snow crust —
 Such heaps of broken glass to sweep away
 You'd think the inner dome of heaven had fallen.

Five years have passed; five summers, with the length
 Of five long winters! and again I hear
 These waters, rolling from their mountain springs
 With a soft inland murmur. — Once again
 Do I behold these steep and lofty cliffs,
 That on a wild secluded scene impress
 Thoughts of more deep seclusion; and connect
 The landscape with the quiet of the sky.
 The day is come when I again repose
 Here, under this dark sycamore, and view
 These plots of cottage ground, these orchards
 Which at this season, with their unripe fruit
 Are clad in one green hue, and lose themselves
 'Mid groves and copses. Once again I see
 These hedgerows, hardly hedgerows, little lin

St. Agnes' Eve — Ah, bitter chill it was!
 The owl, for all his feathers, was cold;
 The hare limped trembling through the frozen grass,
 And silent was the flock in woolly fold;
 Numb were the Beadsman's fingers, while he told
 His rosary, and while his frosted breath,
 Like pious incense from a censer old,
 Seemed taking flight for heaven, without a death,
 Past the sweet Virgin's picture, while his prayer he saith.

His prayer he saith, this patient, holy man;
 Then takes his lamp, and riseth from his knees,
 And back returneth, meager, barefoot, wan,

... THAT VITAL SPARK WHICH MAKES OTHERS AWARE OF HIM IS THE ELEMENT WHICH GIVES A PER-SON EXISTENCE, AND IT IS EVERLAST-
ING. — Louise Antony

Mount Everett's sixth project house is being built on Berkshire School Road. Students in the building structures facet of occupational education do all the work from the formation of the foundation through the completion of the exterior and partial completion of the interior. Under the direction of Mr. Shiminski and Mr. Sellw, the building structures program is expanding each year, and plans are being made for a more regionalized vocational program as a possibility for the future.

Business practices is another part of the occupational program. Students of this program in grades 9-12 are involved in academic subjects during the first half of the day and business subjects in the afternoon. For Freshmen it is an orientation course, and for upperclassmen there are bookkeeping and secretarial courses.

The shop department, directed by Mr. Doyle and Mr. Shiminski, is concerned with mechanics — the working of machines as well as automobile maintenance. Mr. Wilkenson, from the Bombadier East Company, gave demonstrations on the workings of Ski-Doo's as a part of this program. Pictured at left, Mr. Wilkenson gives an explanation of parts of the motor. Steve Shumulsky assists.

The Southern Berkshire Regional School District was the first in Massachusetts to encompass kindergarten through twelfth grade. The five communities that form the District represent a veritable kaleidoscope of activity. Resting in the midst of the Berkshire Hills, we enjoy a "best-of-both-worlds" atmosphere: leaves, rain, bare feet, freckles, sunny days; colds, snowball fights, and snowmen — the rural part of our lives. The Clark Institute, The Berkshire Playhouse, Jacob's Pillow, Tanglewood, The Pittsfield Antheneum — the polished segment of our lives.

Each town has its own "natural" attractions. For example, Sheffield has the splendor of Mount Everett. Monterey possesses the Beartown Mountain State Forest. Alford boasts Devil's Den, a tunnel once used for the transportation of hay. New Marlborough conceals the old Canfield Gold Mine, located off Rhoades and Bailey Roads. Egremont features as one of its historical landmarks an old flour mill, now the home of Sima Artcrafts.

Rustic? Probably. Sophisticated? Maybe not. Historical? Undoubtedly. The Southern Berkshires cannot be summed up in one word. Here are our homes. Here are our beginnings . . .

THE TREES ARE GRAY AND HANGING WET,
A SUNNY DAY IS BETTER YET.

CHANGE

Pat Martínez, an exchange student from Mexico City, Mexico, is spending the 1970-71 school year as a junior at Mount Everett. She was interviewed by Susan McNamara.

Sue: Pat, what did you have to do to get into this exchange program?

Pat: My mother knows the lady from the fellowship in Mexico, and she told us about it, and we thought it was wonderful to travel through the United States, so I decided to come here.

Sue: Will you get credit for the schooling you've received here at Mount Everett; does it count as a school year for you?

Pat: No. When I get back to my country I will have to do my sophomore year over again.

Sue: When do you go back to Mexico?

Pat: June 30.

Sue: Have you attended many social functions here? Gone to parties or anything like that?

Pat: Well, to the parties.

Sue: Are they different here than in Mexico?

Pat: Yes, here you can go in pants, and in Mexico you have to go all dressed.

Sue: Are the people much different in their actions?

Pat: Well, here the people in the country are not so cold, but I think in the cities the people are colder.

Sue: About the country, are there many differences in the country around Sheffield and Mill River where you're staying compared to Mexico where you live?

Pat: No.

Sue: What is your house like there?

Pat: The houses in Mexico are more modern; they are a lot different, I think.

Sue: What is your house like?

Pat: It is two floors, dining room, living room, two bathrooms, three bedrooms, kitchen, and two yards.

Sue: And your schools — your school is much more modern, isn't it?

Pat: Well no, I don't think so. I think they are about the same.

Sue: You said you had a swimming pool in it.

Pat: Yes, but the buildings are about the same.

Sue: What are the grades for the two schools?

Pat: I have in my school kindergarten through ninth grade. In another school they have only kindergarten or just for high school.

Sue: Do many of the kids go on to college after they get out of the second school?

Pat: Yes, a lot.

Sue: What are some of the sports that you played while you were going to school in Mexico?

Pat: Swimming, volleyball, basketball.

Sue: What are the lunches like; do you eat at school?

Pat: Yes, but we don't have cafeterias. We have to bring our lunch to school.

Sue: And it's an all-girl school, right?

Pat: Yes.

Sue: Do you wear uniforms?

Pat: Yes. We have three uniforms — one for gym, one for Monday, and one for the rest of the day.

Sue: What are some of the holidays you celebrate?

Pat: In Christmas we have a week of parties with piñatas and punch.

Sue: What are your vacations in school?

Pat: Like here in summer.

Sue: Right now it's winter here, but you are on vacation in Mexico, aren't you?

Pat: No. Here we have vacation in December one or two weeks, the same as in Mexico.

Sue: So you're actually missing a year of school in Mexico?

Pat: Yes.

Sue: How many kids do you have in your family?

Pat: Three.

Sue: And their ages?

Pat: I'm the oldest. Sylvia 14, Rosemary 13, Liliana 5.

Sue: What do your mother and father do for a living?

Pat: My mother stays in the house, and my father works for a magazine and an American company.

Sue: What is the American company?

Pat: Walter Thompson.

Sue: What's that?

Pat: It's about business with American people.

Student Council

The new Student Council began holding its weekly meetings in September of 1970. Separated from the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grade council, its emphasis is now directed toward the high school. Traditionally the liaison between students and administration, the Student Council holds open, unsupervised meetings to allow students a chance to be heard. The Council is responsible for the School Store, victory flag, Yearbook dance, and the funding of any worthwhile student activity. Within the past year, the Council has worked for the revision of the new school day, and has revised the student handbook.

Hall Monitors

Stationed throughout the corridors, the Hall Monitors maintain order among the students as they pass through the halls and as they enter and leave assemblies.

Lab Monitors

The Lab Monitors are those boy wonders responsible for the maze of whirring machines that is our Language Lab. They keep the room clean, and aid teachers by setting up tapes and making cartridges.

Student Leaders

This year students have aided in the gym program. They were chosen by the Physical Education Department as the most qualified.

Student Tutors

New this year is a program involving Student Tutors. The basic design of the program is to help children with learning difficulties to overcome their problems. The tutors work hand-in-hand with the students' teachers. There are plans in the making to expand the program in the near future.

National Honor Society

Dedicated to the ideals of scholarship, leadership, character, and service, the National Honor Society recognizes outstanding students. The National Honor Society runs a bookstore and sponsors a trip to the Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn.

The Mount Everett Concert Band is a core organization from which springs the Mount Everett Marching Band and Stage Band. The Concert Band performs light classics, marches, and some popular and novelty pieces. It performs at The Pops Concerts, the Mount Everett Arts Festival, and at the Monument Mountain Arts Festival. The band also plays at school functions, such as assemblies, graduation, and National Honor Society Induction. The Marching Band performs at half-time shows at all home football games, and participates in community affairs, such as the Great Barrington Halloween Parade, various Memorial Day Parades, and the Laurel Festival Parade. The Stage Band performs popular and "big band" pieces at all concerts, in addition to accompanying community group programs, such as the P.T.A. Talent Show. The Band Council, comprised of President John Gulotta, Vice President Bill Gulotta, Secretary-Treasurer Louise Antony, and representatives of each grade in band, meets with Mr. Wartella to discuss any major problem with which the band is confronted.

ART

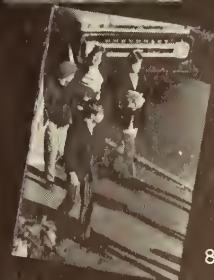

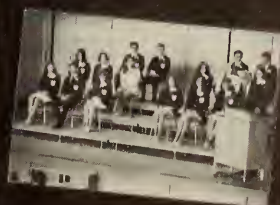

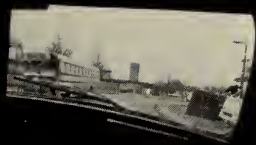

This year the Art Department took over the largest showcase at Mount Everett. Displays created by the Art I, Art II, Arts and Crafts, and Advanced Art classes were shown from two to four weeks and then changed. The expansion of the art classes made available new materials such as acrylics, lithography, "Paris Craft," silk screen, ceramics . . . With these new materials came displays of silk screened clothing, ceramic pots, sculptured animals of "Paris Craft," and landscapes in acrylics . . .
